Notes Attached to this Report

The disposal of the company's Cray pots at maximum market prices in February 2015 provided a meaningful injection of cash to the company, allowing it to assess various exploration and other assets during the quarter. The board has assessed in excess of some thirty projects introduced by New York Securities Pty Ltd in a range of commodities including graphite, gold, nickel, copper and other commodities including an advanced Zinc project. Whilst initial assessment offers submitted by the company on a number of these projects were rejected, the Company remains in discussion with a number of vendors of more advanced projects, in pursuit of a favourable outcome for Cervantes shareholders, including the pursuit of a technical solution to the existing gold tailings venture in WA.

The board continues to be advised on the progress of the iron sands project in the Philippines, where Cervantes has an opportunity to participate via a secured loan, interest bearing and profit sharing arrangement over the project. Cervantes was granted first right of refusal, in the event that the party wished to joint venture or dispose of part or all of the venture in the future, on terms that are mutually acceptable to both parties. The grant came as a result of Cervantes introducing the project to a listed company who currently provides financial assistance to assess the technical and other merits of the project, via an unlisted public company that controls the project, which required and was commissioned to secure financial support for the project. There is still some agonisingly slow progress on resolving legal disputes with the original vendors created by previous directors of the unlisted company. One action was dismissed and whilst the current ongoing proceedings could be resolved by accepting an unrealistic condition proposed by the vendors in the current market conditions, the recent decline in the iron ore price has presented a potential challenge to the projects viability, however Cervantes believes it remains worthy of continued consideration, and the weak market conditions present a favourable negotiating position. Accordingly the board remain committed to the ongoing discussions in preparing an agreement over the venture when all outstanding issues are resolved, in conjunction with any other projects that may fit within Company guidelines.

Cervantes was alerted by New York Securities to an opportunity involving a strategic parcel of exploration ground in the Albany Fraser Range area that became vacant as a result of a financially distressed junior exploration company. Cervantes lodged an application to secure that area by way of an Exploration Licence, and has been successful in the acquisition as announced on the ASX on the 13th August 2015. Standard Native Title issues are now being addressed and a Geological Consulting firm has been appointed to compile historical data over the area before formulating an exploration program. Cervantes and their consulting firm will continue to monitor the success or otherwise of a number of current exploration and drilling programs of listed, and other companies active in the highly prospective Fraser Range, including Mount Ridley, whose permits immediately adjoin Cervantes.

Cervantes has been approached by a local Stock broking firm to raise capital for the project, and whilst this could reduce and or eliminate the current temporary loans, and provide the initial exploration funds needed, we believe the market conditions will improve and especially if one or more of the advanced projects we are seeking comes to fruition, allowing a capital raising on more favourable terms.

Cervantes continues to be one of the least expensive run companies on the ASX with minimal directors' fees, totalling some combined $72,000 per annum with no direct staff, and office administration cost of some $70,000 per annum. This austerity will continue until the Directors and management are able to be adequately rewarded for their time, and for the ever increasing liabilities and responsibilities attached to being directors of a public company imposed on them by politicians, the ASX and the ASIC.

Cervantes currently has some $250,000 of cash, and liquid assets, which can be disposed of as and when required to meet ongoing expenditures, and when deemed appropriate, the Company will exchange assets from time to time for improving the medium to longer term goals, and to diversify the operations and assets.

Cervantes continues to be approached by groups wishing to instigate possible back door listings, but believe the terms and conditions proposed are unfair and unrealistic to current shareholders, and that our proposed plans going forward are slowly materialising, and will be considerably more beneficial to current shareholders. Cervantes, based on its current assets and cash, has sufficient reserves to meet its costs and expenses for the next 2 quarters, as and when they fall due.
